New forms of assessment and grading

Please share an example when your professor clearly communicated to you the purpose and role of technology in a course assignment. What worked well?
Please share an experience when the use of technology during class made you more engaged.

For short-answer and essay format exams, do you prefer to use a computer or pen-and-paper? What are your reflections on exams and quizzes through Canvas?

How do you prefer to receive feedback from your professor? (Select your top three choices.)

- In-person (after class, by appointment or office hours)
- Hand-written on paper
- Through Canvas Gradebook
- "Track changes" on a Word document
- Video or audio commentary
- Personal email
